Dynamic Relationships

Unleashing the Power of Appreciative Inquiry in Daily Living

How is it that some people seem to have great relationships and success in their lives while others do not? Why are some organizations successful at sustaining positive change while others make a great start but let it fade away? It rests on the dynamics of their relationships. Creating positive dynamics and sustained success requires continuous awareness and informed appreciative action. Dynamic Relationships: Unleashing the Power of Appreciative Inquiry in Daily Living invites us to step into the appreciative paradigm where the principles governing our actions and relationships offer a means for increased value and meaning in our lives and our communities of work and play. Dynamic Relationships offers us the opportunity to practice these principles through cycles of reflection and action in ways that empower us to become a force for creating and sustaining life-affirming relationships and success in daily living.

“Great Work! I’m applying it ... and I’m grateful. It provides a simple way to shift our inner thinking and dialogue to what is of value? What is working? When are we at our best in relation to others and ourselves? It is the first book to bring Appreciative Inquiry straight into our personal lives.”

David Cooperrider
Co-Creator of Appreciative Inquiry and co-author of “The Appreciative Inquiry Handbook”

“This book is the first to truly understand what the five core principles really mean to Appreciative Inquiry by applying the Principle of Awareness. Stavros and Torres do this in a meaningful way by focusing on the principles and how they relate so closely to each other. This is a fantastic piece of work!”

• Jane Seiling, author of “The Membership Organization: Achieving Top Performance through the New Workplace Community”

“Stavros and Torres provide us with easy to use and highly effective exercises and strategies for creating the relationships, families, and workplaces we want to live in – strategies which can be immediately used by anyone who reads this book.”

• Bernard J. Mohr, President, Co-Founder of Innovation Partners International, and co-author of “Appreciative Inquiry: Change at the Speed of Imagination”

“Stavros and Torres have made an exceptional contribution with this practical and thoughtful book. This piece takes Appreciative Inquiry beyond the organizational life into your life.”

• Dr. Marge Schiller, President, The Positive Change Corps

“This wonderful book shows you how to live in an appreciative paradigm and create the best possible relationships.”
