

It takes a community: a study of supervision in the Our Lady of the Lake University-Houston M.S. in Psychology Program

By Glenn Earl Boyd

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments and Brief Introduction 7

Chapter 1 What Interested Me: Supervision from the Student's Perspective 13

Chapter 2 What Others Learned: A Review of Literature 40

Related to Supervision

Chapter 3 Steps to a Research Design: Early Learning Experiences 64

Chapter 4 Steps to a Research Design: Research as Contribution to Community Life 75

Chapter 5 Steps to a Research Methodology: Contours of a Plan 93

Chapter 6 Summary of Interviews 112

Chapter 7 Primary Themes in the Conversations 119

Chapter 8 A Collaborative Learning Community 145

Chapter 9 Coping with Integration Anxiety in a Collaborative 169

Learning Community

Chapter 10 The Shotter Filter Introduced 194

Chapter 11 The Shotter Filter Applied 209

Chapter 12 Something for Everybody: An Evaluation 229

Chapter 13 Three Jokes and Words of Encouragement 241

References 250

Addendum 281

Transcript of First Interview 282

Transcript of Second Interview 294

Institutional Review Board Request Form 310

Invitation to Participate in Research Project 321

Informed Consent 322

Resume 2011 324